PRECAUTIONARY MEASURE
American Advised to Leave Danger
Zones in Mexico

Washington, Sept. 16—The state department's advice to Americans to leave danger zones in Mexico was being circulated today through the northern part of the republic, and United States Consuls are under instructions to quit their posts whenever conditions become threatening. The advance of Carranza troops into the northern states, making the fighting imminent, and reports of lawlessness along the frontier are responsible for the precautionary measure. The state department's information had been sent through the Consulate at Torreon, Nogales and Juarez, all in territory controlled by Villa.

SERENO S. PRATT DEAD

Was Owner of Summer Home in Dorset

Sereno Stansbury Pratt, secretary of the New York chamber of commerce for the past five years, died early Tuesday morning at the Troy Hospital, following an operation for bladder trouble performed two weeks ago. Last June he was operated on at his home in Brooklyn for gall stones and bladder trouble, and then went to his summer home in Dorset, in hopes of regaining his health. His old trouble grew worse and two weeks ago he went to the Troy Hospital and went under the care of Dr. D. W. Houston, who performed the second operation in the hope that perhaps he would improve, but his condition was such that he failed to rally. He was born in Westmoreland in 1858, the son of Enfield L. and Mary E. (Jessup) Pratt. He attended the public schools of Burlington and the University of Vermont but left before graduating and entered the career of newspaper man and journalist. He became editor of the St. Albans Advertiser in 1876, and his subsequent newspaper work including reporting the Vermont legislature for the Montpelier Argus; New York Commercial Bulletin (Journal of Commerce); Wall Street reporter for the New York World; New York correspondent for The Baltimore Sun; manager of the New York bureau of The Philadelphia Public Ledger; author of "The Work of Wall Street," published in 1903; financial editor of The New York Times and associate editor of the Wall Street Journal. He was frequently a contributor to magazines and other periodicals and on financial topics to many of the leading papers in the country. He was also a member of the American Economic Society and a member of the New England Society of New York and of the Quill Club of New York. He was a Mason. The remains were taken to Dorset on Wednesday morning for burial.
